

Streamline your inventory control with the Advanced ShipStation Integration

If you're looking for a way to maintain inventory control between your website and Acumatica, the Advanced ShipStation Integration is the solution you've been searching for.

With this integration, you can not only use ShipStation in-house, but you can also use third-party fulfillment using the distributor's ShipStation on the cloud. Here's how it works: when an order is placed in Acumatica, the system automatically emails ship data to the 3PL. The 3PL then ships the order using the distributor's ShipStation, and the integration is updated in Acumatica ERP.

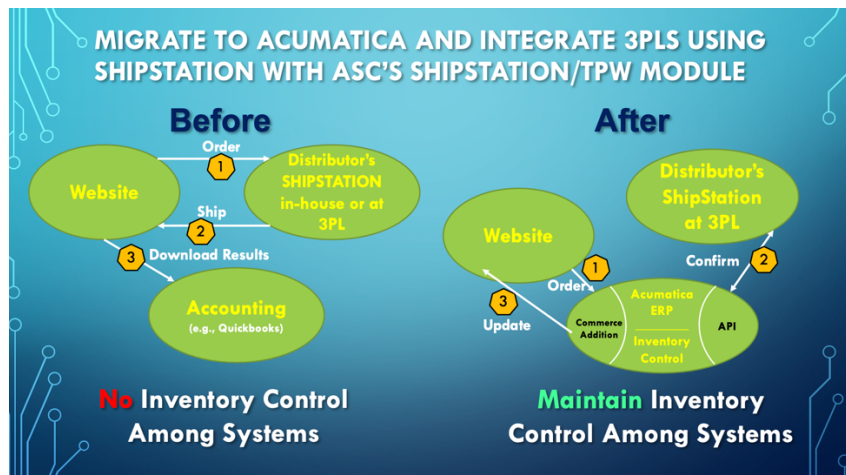

The best part? The Advanced ShipStation integration is less expensive than other options, as it doesn't require a ship carrier integration module. Plus, it provides real-time inventory control by "tricking" Acumatica into thinking that the 3PL is actually your warehouse. Say goodbye to inventory headaches and hello to streamlined operations with the Advanced ShipStation Integration.
